

Harbor Financial Services, LLC Form CRS (Client Relationship Summary) June 30, 2020

Harbor Financial Services, LLC (“Harbor”, “we”, “us”) is registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) as both a broker-dealer and an investment adviser and is a member of the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (FINRA) and the Securities Investor Protection Corporation (SIPC). Brokerage and investment advisory services and fees differ and it is important for you to understand these differences. Free and simple tools are available to research firms and financial professionals at Investor.gov/CRS, which also provides educational materials about broker-dealers, investment advisers, and investing.

What investment services and advice can you provide me?

We provide both brokerage and investment advisory services to clients. We’ve summarized below the main types of services that we offer and their key features:

BROKERAGE (COMMISSION-BASED)	INVESTMENT ADVISORY (FEE-BASED)
As a broker-dealer, our primary service is buying and selling securities for your account. The brokerage programs we offer include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Full-Service- Accounts in this program are non-discretionary with an assigned Financial Professional who can offer recommendations to buy or sell securities but you must approve each transaction prior to execution. • Self-Directed- Accounts assigned to our Service Center are non-discretionary and are not available to new clients. When a Harbor representative is no longer assigned to a Full-Service account, we provide options that may include converting to a Self-Directed account. In this account, you control the buying or selling of securities. The Service Center’s role is to execute the trades you request. Account Monitoring: We do not agree to provide account monitoring services for your brokerage accounts. Your financial professional may voluntarily review holdings in your brokerage accounts from time to time and may or may not make recommendations to you based on these reviews. These voluntary account reviews are not an account monitoring service. Account Minimums: Other than limited exceptions related to particular client-types, we generally do not require a minimum account size to open a brokerage account. Some securities also have investment minimums. Limited Investment Offerings: We offer and make recommendations on non-proprietary products. We do not offer or make recommendations on all products of any particular type; for example, we do not offer or make recommendations on all mutual funds, or make available all share classes of the offered mutual funds.	The investment advisory programs we offer include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Independent Advisory Programs- Accounts in this program may be: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ○ Discretionary – Your financial professional makes investment decisions to buy, sell or hold securities in your account. ○ Non-discretionary— Your financial professional offers advice and recommendations to buy, sell or hold securities but you make the final investment decisions. • Portfolio management programs – We or another firm, manage investments in your account. All firm managed programs are discretionary. We also offer other investment advisory services including: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Financial Planning – Your financial professional helps you develop a detailed strategy or financial plan intended to achieve your financial objectives. • Investment Consulting – Your adviser offers advice on investments held at or outside of Harbor. Account Monitoring: We and your financial professional monitor advisory accounts from time to time consistent with your advisory relationship with us and type of your advisory account. Account Minimums: Most advisory programs have minimum account size requirements. Limited Investment Offerings: We provide advice on non-proprietary products. Depending on your choice of account type, strategy and model, you may receive advice with respect to a broad range of investments, or you may receive advice regarding a limited range of investments. For example, we do not make all mutual funds available for use in advisory programs and generally limit the offered mutual funds to a single share class.

CONVERSATION STARTERS:

- Given my financial situation, should I choose an investment advisory service? Should I choose a brokerage service? Should I choose both types of services? Why or why not?
- How will you choose investments to recommend to me?
- What is your relevant experience, including your licenses, education and other qualifications? What do these qualifications mean?

What fees will I pay?

------------------------------	---------------------------------

In a brokerage account, you will incur transaction charges when you buy or sell securities, including: commissions; markups and markdowns (analogous to commissions in a principal transaction); upfront or ongoing fees that you pay to a mutual fund or other product issuer, a portion of which is paid to us in connection with your transaction; and handling and processing fees on each securities transaction.

Transaction charges differ from one product to another which creates an incentive for your financial professional to recommend products that have higher transaction charges. You will incur greater total transaction charges when there are more trades in your account, which creates an incentive for us to encourage you to trade more often.

Depending upon your account and relationship, you may also incur periodic account maintenance or IRA custodial fees, as well as processing, service, and account fees upon certain events or occurrences. You will incur interest charges if you borrow on margin or draw down on a securities-based loan in any of your accounts.

Certain investments, such as mutual funds, have embedded fees that are generally paid by you to the companies that sponsor, manage, and/or promote the investment.

In an investment advisory account, you will incur advisory fees which are generally assessed quarterly at the rate you agreed upon with your financial professional (based on our published fee schedule).

Asset-based fees are based on a percentage of the value of the assets in your account. The asset-based fee does not include commissions and other charges for trades that a third-party manager directs to another broker-dealer. In addition, it does not include underlying management fees and operating expenses for investment products and other charges described in our advisory brochure. Non-wrap accounts incur per transaction fees as listed on trade confirmations.

Because we and your financial professional are compensated based on the amount of assets in your account, we and your financial professional are incentivized to grow your assets.

During periods of lower trading activity, the advisory fee may be higher than the transaction charges you would have paid in a brokerage account. To determine whether an investment advisory account is appropriate for you, you should carefully analyze the projected costs of an investment advisory account versus a brokerage account based on factors such as expected size, volume and frequency of transactions, projected holding period and the advisory services provided by your financial professional.

Financial planning and investment consulting services are generally charged hourly or fixed fees as agreed upon with your financial professional.

You will pay fees and costs whether you make or lose money on your investments. Fees and costs will reduce any amount of money you make on your investments over time. Please make sure you understand what fees and costs you are paying.

For additional information about our fees and charges, please see www.harborfs.com/disclosures.html.

CONVERSATION STARTERS: Help me understand how these fees and costs might affect my investments. If I give you $10,000 to invest, how much will go towards fees and costs, and how much will be invested for me?

What are your legal obligations to me when providing recommendations as my broker-dealer or when acting as my investment adviser? How else does your firm make money and what conflicts of interest do you have?

When we provide you with a recommendation as a broker-dealer or act as your investment adviser, we have to act in your best interest and not put our interest ahead of yours. At the same time, the way we make money creates some conflicts with your interests. You should understand and ask about these conflicts because they can affect the recommendations and investment advice provided to you. Here are some examples to help you understand what this means.

Third-Party Services/Compensation— We receive cash and non-cash economic benefits from our clearing firm and product sponsors. These companies earn revenue by charging you fees, such as a management fee in a mutual fund, or interest on securities-based loans. A portion of these fees are shared with us directly or the relationship profits are likely considered when providing benefits to the firm. We use such services/compensation in part to support activities related to servicing client accounts, to provide ongoing product support for certain investments and to provide assistance with conferences and educational meetings for financial professionals. We have an incentive to promote the products/platforms that have the most potential for services/compensation over those that share less or none at all.

Principal trading – We may buy a security from you or sell a security to you from our own account. This activity occurs predominantly with fixed income securities. This may create incentives for us to act against your best interest to either generate trading profits or avoid losses. When permitted in an advisory account, principal transactions require trade by trade consent.

This summary does not identify all of our conflicts of interest, or all material facts about the conflicts of interest listed. For additional information about these and other conflicts of interest, please see www.harborfs.com/disclosures.html.

CONVERSATION STARTER: How might your conflicts of interest affect me, and how will you address them?

How do your financial professionals make money?

- Financial professionals are compensated as a percentage of the revenue sources described below:

SEC REQUIRED DISCLOSURE FOR RETAIL INVESTORS

- Commissions, markups and markdowns earned in brokerage accounts, which vary by product.
- Ongoing fees from mutual fund and certain other product issuers.
- Advisory fees which are generally assessed quarterly at the rate you agreed upon with your financial professional (based on our published fee schedule).
- Fees related to other products and services provided to you.

The percentage of revenue that your financial professional receives will generally increase as total revenue earned from their client account(s) increases. Therefore, financial professionals are incentivized to increase revenues on your and other clients' accounts.

Do you or your financial professionals have legal or disciplinary history?

- Yes. Visit Investor.gov/CRS for a free and simple search tool to research us and the financial professionals.

CONVERSATION STARTERS: As a financial professional, do you have any disciplinary history? For what type of conduct?
